

Festival helping shoppers get arty

BELLY dancing and mural making workshops are set to help shoppers unleash their creativity. The Edmonton Summer Festival on Saturday will host an assortment of art, dance and music activities in the North Square of the Edmonton Green Shopping Centre. Other workshops include African soca dancing, street theatre and painting. Gary Morris, senior development manager at St Modwen, which owns the centre, said: "This year's summer festival is going to be a great day. Where else can you go shopping, have a meal and then try your hand at belly dancing? We are delighted to host the event."
